A note from the Author

For our Innovator project at Freestyle Academy, we were given the opportunity to create our own project. I decided to do one of my favorite mediums which is a manga, or Japanese-style comics. It took a while to decide what to write about, but I eventually thought drew small anecdotes of my life in China from when I was 10 to 14. Hope you enjoy the silly stories I have encountered through challenging times.

Pieces of Tomorrow is a journal memoir and a short graphic novel. It is written based on the past events of the author. Names and character are products of authors imagination and are used fictitiously, however, some locations may remain true.
