

The Journal

by Sanjana
Pandit

9/12
Today the same group of guys approached me and started calling me names and rudely shickening.

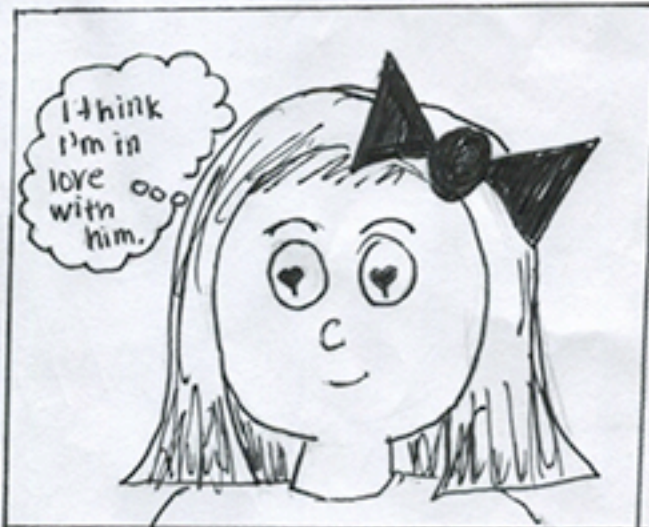

They teased me for writing in this journal and wouldn't stop. This is the 11th time they have bullied me in the past year.

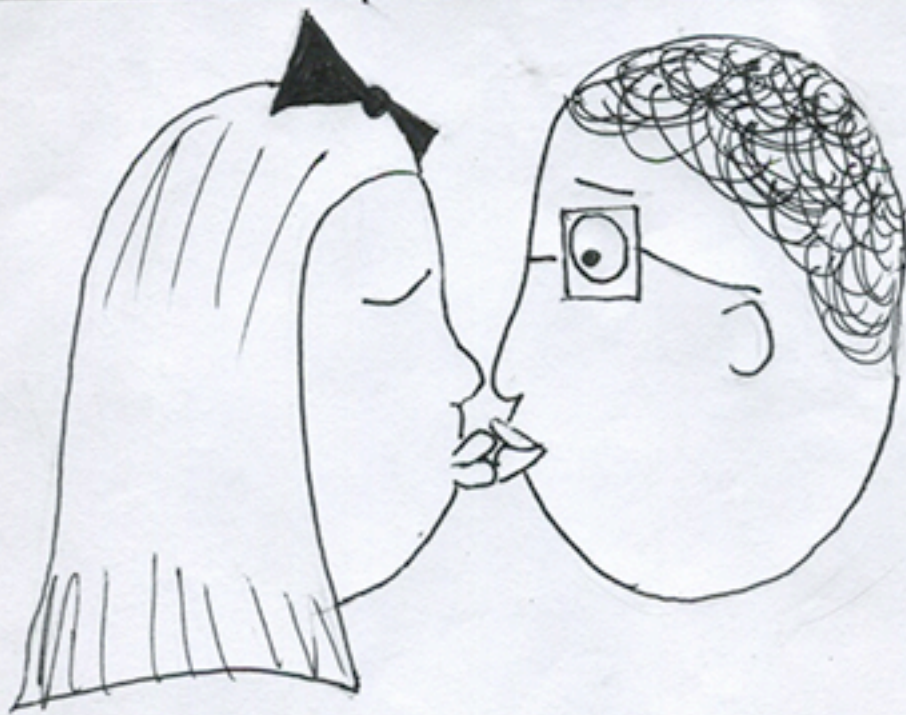

I don't know how to stand up for myself, so I have decided from now on I will walk away from them. Sometimes... I actually feel sorry for them.

They are so insecure with themselves they take it out on me. But, it doesn't bother me. But, they think it's pathetic how I write in this journal. I know it's not.

-Charlie.

The End.