ROTOSCOPIING

What IS Rotoscoping?

Rotoscoping is a form of animation that involves tracing and coloring over previously taken footage. This technique isn't just used in animated films, but also in live action. Most famously, the Lightsaber was edited in post with it's color and glowing effects!

Inspirations and stuff

I was heavily inspired by Dragon Ball Z, particularly the character Broly, who is basically a mindless berserker that absolutely demolished Goku in the movie. I also get some inspiration from animators like Sr Pelo, who make very absurd videos.
