

Lost at Sea – Stacked Wood Art

I wanted to do the stacked wood art because it's a very different medium of art than anything else. It simplifies the shapes and creates very visually interesting pieces. I went with a rolling ocean under a sky full of stars. I wanted to create a picturesque image of a small boat and big waves. I really am excited to see how this will turn out. I really love boats and the ocean and have incorporated in it other projects in the past.
