

Essay: This essay is so brief it's practically a haiku. Blink, and you might miss it—shorter than a sneeze, yet still claiming its place in the literary microcosm.